The books we'll use to support our Mediterranean topic:

Paolo Emperor of Rome By Mac Barnett

Paolo the dachshund is trapped. Though he lives in Rome, a city filled with history and adventure, he is confined to a hair salon. Paolo dreams of the sweet life la dolce vita in the Eternal City. And then, one day, he escapes! Join our hero as he discovers the wonders of Rome: the ruins, the food, the art, the opera, and of course the cats.

Pinocchio by Michael Morpurgo

In this stunningly beautiful interpretation of the classic story, Michael Morpurgo channels Pinocchio's words to tell the famous puppet's story in his own inimitable, cheeky and always funny way.

Key skills we'll be building on...

In R.E, we will express our own opinions and appreciate that other people have differing views. We'll I think through an enquiry question, using the most relevant knowledge, and explain where there might be more than one answer. We will be studying Hinduism.

In life skills, we'll be looking at money. We'll be exploring ways to be money smart and learn about how the world of finance works,

In Science, we will be experimenting with muscle contractions and extensions so we learn about the human body.

In PSHE, we'll be learning about keeping our body safe and learn to recognize appropriate and inappropriate touch. We'll recognize the ways in which our bodies change.

In design and technology, we'll apply the principles of a healthy and varied diet to prepare and create a pizza.

In Spanish, we'll be connecting words together to ask for a variety of different ice cream types and flavours.

Why not try this at home?

Research about one country in the Mediterranean. What is it like there? What will you see? What can you do? What is it famous for?

Keep a dream journal for a week and then turn it into art!

Create an exercise routine that will help strengthen your muscles by making them expand and con-
